EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

BE ANCHORED IN THE PRESENT MOMENT: Our mind has a proclivity to run in multiple directions. Under the different pretexts, it wanders to the past, revelling in happy moments of yore or dissecting some old traumatic memories and alternatively, it hurtles towards an unknown future, weaving pleasurable daydreams or fretting about imaginary catastrophes. These ruminations around 'what was' or 'what will be' push us in a state of psychological haze and consequently, we neglect what is real — our 'here and now.' Interestingly, we can neither change what had happened in the past nor we can exercise complete control over what is going to unfold in the future. What we have is just the present moment. Emphasising the immense value of this tiny moment, the Persian poet and astronomer Omar Khayyam had once said, "Be happy for this moment. This moment is your life." The Buddhist technique of mindfulness can help us in remaining grounded in the present moment. A mindful person is the one who observes his sensations, emotions, and thoughts with openness and without any judgment. Developing mindfulness is easy. You can start with putting small reminders in your to-do lists, your smartphones, or your laptops to take small breaks in your daily life, focusing on your breath. Whenever you notice that a thought has driven your attention away from your breath, acknowledge it gently, label it as 'mental chatter,' and bring your attention back to the breath. It is crucial that you do not judge your thoughts and emotions, neither you should indulge in them and nor you should suppress them. With repeated practice, the breath anchors your attention to the present moment, and you start living mindfully. As a result, you achieve liberation from negative thoughts, emotions and self-perceptions and you stop suffering. So, make a beginning now by concentrating on your breath.

Ice volcano in Kazakhstan attracting tourists

Almaty: Though the steppes of Kazakhstan's Almaty region are not the most inviting place, especially during winter, one unusual phenomenon has been attracting a lot of tourists from across the globe there lately.

Located between the villages of Kegen and Shyrganak in the middle of a snow-covered plateau is a 14-meter-high ice tower that continuously spouts water which turns to ice almost instantly. The unique structure looks like a miniature volcano, only instead of hot lava, it spouts water. The sight has become popular both among locals, but also Instagram fans and influencers looking for special backgrounds for their social media posts.

According to a recent Instagram post, the ice volcano is the result of an underground spring that spouts water all year-round. In the summer, it causes a green vegetation bloom for tens of meters around it, but in winter time, when temperatures drop below zero, the water freezes creating the ice volcano cone.

The insect delicacy of Mexico

Mexico: Consumed in Mexico since the time of the Aztecs, Escamol is an ancient dish made with the edible larvae and pupae of two species of ants, known for its nutty, buttery flavour. Commonly known as 'Mexican caviar' because of its similarity to fish eggs, escamol consists larvae and pupae of ants which are native to some semi-arid areas of Mexico and the southern United States. Its origins can be traced back hundreds of years, back to the time of the Aztecs, when consumption of insects was very common.

Escamol was considered a delicacy by the Aztecs, who would trade for it with nomadic tribes because it was difficult to procure. Its price in Mexican restaurants suggests that escamol has retained its status as delicacy in modern times as well.

First, age check... then petrol !
An unwise solution

Sir,

Apropos the news item "First, age check... then petrol !" (Star of Mysore dated Feb. 3), it is definitely not a wise and practical solution to curb the minors from driving vehicles.

It may not be possible to judge the age of a person by merely looking at his face or at his physique. Minors will definitely find ways and means to hoodwink the petrol bunk employees and get their tank filled.

By instructing the fuel stations to decline fuel to the vehicles driven by minors and to penalise the bunk owners if fuel is supplied to minors is definitely not practical and can invite unnecessary and unwarranted legal complications. This instruction may not be legally tenable.

Minors can be easily apprehended if all the Traffic Police posted at signals or at junctions are more vigilant. These Cops, instead of sitting idle either inside the traffic umbrella or on their vehicles, can capture and upload the photos of the suspected minors and drivers committing other traffic violations, to the Police WhatsApp number.

Also by posting Police and RTO personnel near PU Colleges and in the vicinity of roadside eateries, minor drivers can be easily apprehended.

The instructions by the Deputy Commissioner to refuse parking space for vehicles driven by minor students is definitely a better option than asking for age proof of the riders by the fuel station employees. No doubt, number of minors driving vehicles without licence and without helmet are on the rise and it needs to be curbed with more practical and stringent approach.

Use word 'Machinehole' instead of 'Manhole':

MCC Chief suggests to Safai Karmachari Commission

Mysuru, Feb. 7 (PM&SSV)- Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner Gurudatta Hegde has suggested to the Karnataka State Safai Karmachari Commission to recommend the use of the word 'machinehole' instead of 'manhole' in the wake of use of machinery to clean underground drainage.

He was speaking at the inauguration of a day-long certified training on Safety Measures, Legal Norms and Manual Scavenging Act, 2013, along with validation for Safaimitra organised by MCC at the Town Hall in city yesterday.

He said the Corporation has purchased adequate number of machinery to check Safai Karmacharis from entering inside manhole to clean the choked drainage. Besides, a lot of welfare measures have been launched for the families of Safaimitras. The demands of Safai Karmacharis such as hike in breakfast allowance and transfer of salary to bank accounts would be considered. There was no shortage of machinery to clean sewer lines, he added.

Invent new machinery

M. Shivanna, Chairman, Karnataka State Safai Karmachari Commission, said the Department of Management Studies at Indian Institute of Science, has been requested to explore possibilities of new machinery to clean sewer lines instead of using people. It was heartening to note that the MCC has sufficient number of modern equipment to undertake this work. Despite banning manual scavenging by enacting legislation in 2013, the number was increasing in the State. Authorities of all Urban Development bodies have been strictly told to discourage manual scavenging failing which action would be taken against officials concerned, he added.

He said National Law School of India (NLSI) has submitted a report highlighting problems of Pourakarmikas in the State. According to the report, only 4 percent of Pourakarmikas have availed benefits since Independence. A lot of programmes have been chalked out for the betterment of Safai Karmacharis and the same would be brought to the notice of Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa to release funds.

Presiding over the District-level Co-ordination Committee meeting on Tuesday at Deputy Commissioner's Office to review the Seventh Economic Census, organised by Common Services Centres, he said, "for the first time, the entire Census was conducted on a digital platform, but due to the discrepancies found in the collected data at city and taluk levels, the report submitted by Common Services Centres has been rejected in this first meeting."

Taluk Panchayat system to be scrapped: Minister

K.S. Eshwarappa

Bengaluru, Feb. 7 (KMS&DM)- RDPR Minister K.S. Eshwarappa said that the Government is ready to scrap the Taluk Panchayat (TP) system as it is proving to be a burden on the State exchequer.

Replying to a question by Venkatrao Nadagouda of the JD(S) during question hour in the State Assembly on Thursday, Eshwarappa said that TPs have been unable to take up development works as is being done by Zilla Panchayats (ZPs) and Gram Panchayats (GPs).

As such, the Government is seriously considering doing away with the TP system and the State will write to the Centre seeking scrapping ofthe system.

Pointing out that the scrapping of the TP system means that the State will have a two-tier Panchayat Raj system, Eshwarappa said that it is interesting to note at this point that many TP polls aspirants had contested the GP polls held in December last. He further said that Legislators must come forward for expressing their opinion in detail on scrapping the TP system, so that the Government can make the next move at the earliest.

Stating that three-tier Panchayat Raj system is in place in most States, Eshwarappa said that only those States that have a population of less than 20 lakh have been exempted from TP system. The Government will send a proposal to the Centre seeking abolition of the TP system after the Cabinet takes a conclusive decision in this regard, he added.

Railway Goods Shed lorry parking row

MLA Tanveer Sait holds talks with DC

Mysuru, Feb. 7- Even as the TAPCMS (Taluk Agricultural Produce Co-operative Marketing Society) agreed to allow parking of MNGT (Mysore New Goods Terminal) lorries at its premises on Jodi Tenginamara Road in Bannimantap for three more months following a direction from the Deputy Commissioner, NR MLA Tanveer Sait held talks with DC Rohini Sindhuri yesterday in an effort to find a permanent solution to the row, by setting up a lorry stand at the MUDA site adjacent to Gumnam Shavali Dargah located close to Railway Goods Shed.

MLA Tanveer Sait in conversation with DC Rohini Sindhuri at her office yesterday as Railway Goods Shed Lorry Owners Association President Abdul Khader Shahid looks on.

Tanveer Sait, who met DC Rohini Sindhuri at her office, told the DC that there is no permanent parking space for MNGT lorries.

Pointing out that lorries transporting goods and grains from Railway Goods Shed are being parked in the spacious premises of TAPCMS located on Jodi Tenginamara Road for years, he said that now the TAPCMS has asked the lorry owners to vacate the space. But thanks to the intervention of the DC, the TAPCMS agreed to allow parking of lorries for three more months, he noted.

Stressing on the need for having a permanent lorry stand, Sait said that the ideal spot is the MUDA site adjacent to Gumnam Shavali Dargah.

He appealed the DC to take measures for setting up the lorry stand at this spot and also to provide civic amenities such as sanitation, drinking water, power connection etc., at the stand.

Highlighting the advantages of setting up the lorry stand near the Dargah, he said that the completion of works on the road that connects the Dargah with Ring Road will enable MNGT lorries to reach the Ring Road directly.

Pointing out that a direct link between Gumnam Shavali Dargah and Ring Road will de-congest traffic on Jodi Tenginamara Road, Sait brought to the notice of the DC about the obstacles created by the Railways for the completion of works.

Recalling that he had held talks with Railways DRM and the MP about the obstruction, Sait contended that the Railways seems to have cared little for solving the row. As such, the DC should take necessary measures to ensure that the Dargah roadworks are completed, he said.

During the course of the meeting, Sait presented documents related to the roadworks that is already in progress, but has been halted following obstruction by the Railways.

Referring to housing issues in his constituency, Sait brought to the notice of the DC about the sudden cancellation of allotment of 2,365 houses in NR Constituency. Maintaining that the cancellation came at a time when the contractor was about to build houses after the completion of the tender process, the MLA appealed the DC to look into the issue and take necessary measures for allotment of houses meant for poor people.

Railway Goods Shed Lorry Owners Association President and Congress leader Abdul Khader Shahid was present.

Vaccination for frontline workers

A meeting was held at District Vaccination Control Room, new DC office, this morning in connection with the launching of COVID-19 vaccination drive for frontline workers tomorrow.

Already, trial run of vaccination had been held for 50 staff of Zilla Panchayat (ZP) out of which only 20 turned up, that too after much persuasion by senior officers due to hesitancy. To instil confidence among frontline workers and carry the message that the vaccine is 100 percent safe, heads of Departments are likely to take vaccination on the first day, said RCHO Dr. Ravi.

He further said that video-conference with Additional Chief Secretary (Health) Jawaid Akhtar was participated by Deputy Commissioner (DC) Rohini Sindhuri, Mysuru ZP Chief Executive Officer (CEO) B.A. Paramesh, Superintendent of Police (SP) C.B. Ryshyanth, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta and Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner Gurudatta Hegde.

They shared information regarding the total number of staff to be vaccinated in their respective Departments and asked top brass to instruct those who have registered their names in the App to be present on the given date and time to get vaccinated. Health Department Officers were instructed to send details of vaccination to every individual through SMS by this evening.

While vaccination for frontline workers in rural areas would be held in Taluk General Hospitals, in Mysuru city, it would take place at District Hospital on KRS Road.

Hitherto, they had planned to hold it in K.R. Hospital but the idea was dropped due to rush of patients, listing of surgeries and other emergency medical cases. Since the District Hospital was exclusively available for COVID-19 patients, holding vaccination drive for frontline workers would not disturb other patients.

The total number of staff to be vaccinated in the district was around 17,000 and they would be divided for three days to cover all of them, if they come forward, the officer pointed out.

Give us break

Meanwhile, it was learnt that Health Department Workers who were working day and night without break in the last two to three months have sought time for relaxation. This was conveyed to Jawaid Akhtar, who acknowledged it and agreed to give break for the staff on rotation basis in view of big responsibility of vaccination against the pandemic.

Dist. Minister writes to Assembly Speaker seeking installation of portraits

Somashekar

Mysuru, Feb.7 (PM&DM)- District-in charge Minister S.T. Somashekar has written to State Assembly Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri seeking installation of the portraits of Chamarajendra Wadiyar X, the 23rd Maharaja of Mysuru and Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, in Vidhana Sabha Hall.

In his letter written on Wednesday, Somashekar said that the installation of a portrait of Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar in the Legislative Council is most welcome.

Recalling the role of the erstwhile Mysore Maharajas in the all-round development of the State, Somashekar said that the contribution of Chamarajendra Wadiyar X and Nalwadi were outstanding.

Pointing out that Chamarajendra Wadiyar X conceptualised Prajapratinidhi Sabha in 1881, he said that Nalwadi took this forward and established the Sabha in 1923. He said that Nalwadi gave Democracy its true meaning by giving equal opportunities to all sections, irrespective of caste, creed and religion.

Chamarajendra Wadiyar and Krishnaraja Wadiyar

Recollecting the projects executed by Nalwadi, the Minister said that KRS Dam, railway networks, social justice schemes and such other welfare schemes were the vision of Nalwadi.

As such, it would be very much apt if the portraits of the two erstwhile Maharajas are installed in the Vidhana Sabha Hall, he said and added that by doing so it will be a befitting tribute to the erstwhile Mysore Maharajas.

Madikeri, Feb. 7 (PS&BCT)- A museum celebrating the life of former Army Chief General Kodandera Subayya Thimayya, housing a variety of antique weaponry and war relics, was inaugurated last evening by President Ram Nath Kovind. First Lady Savita Kovind was present along with the President. Their daughter Swati Kovind too was present.

"Sunny Side," the erstwhile ancestral house of General Thimayya, who served as the Chief of Army Staff from 1957 to 1961, has been renovated and converted into the museum in Madikeri, Kodagu. The museum showcases memorabilia, including weapons and military uniforms and houses 'Himmat,' a battle tank at the entrance in addition to a supersonic fighter jet, MiG 21, both of which were used in the 1971 war.

Soon after the inauguration, the President's Office tweeted: "Glad to inaugurate the General Thimayya Museum at Madikeri in Kodagu, Karnataka. It has preserved special aspects of the extraordinary character and contribution of one of the finest soldiers in the history of our army."

The President unveiled the inaugural stone at the Museum and went around observing the war memorabilia on display. A statue of the General from Kodagu in uniform greets as one enters the museum, which also showcases a slice of Indian military history.

To guide the visitors, there is a first person narration, explaining the articles and artefacts kept there. Reflecting on the humility General Thimayya, there is a picture showing him riding a Lambretta scooter.

There is also a mural showing Field Marshal Claude John Eyre Auchinleck, who was a British Army Commander during the Second World War, coming down to "Sunny Side" to meet General Thimayya. A War Diary that has been preserved inside the museum narrated the stories of various wars fought by the Indian military.

The museum also acknowledges the contribution of General Thimayya's siblings, including two of his brothers, who too were Army officers and his wife Nina, who was bestowed with "Kaiser-e-Hind" award in recognition of her work in public service. Decades-old arms and ammunition, Army guns and rifles, besides a collection of artwork featuring the valour of soldiers on the battlefield, books and articles are among other things on display.

Veena Achaiah

MLC Shantheyanda Veena Achaiah handed over a memorandum to the President and requested him to award Bharat Ratna posthumously to Field Marshal Kodandera Madappa Cariappa and General Kodandera S. Thimayya.

On Jan. 15, 1949, Cariappa became the first Commander-in-Chief of the Indian Army. He held the five-star rank of Field Marshal, the highest honour in the Indian Army, which Sam Manekshaw is the only other officer to have held.

Gen. Thimayya was born on March 31, 1906 and joined the Army as a soldier. He rose to the rank of General by sheer merit and hard work. Bestowing Cariappa and Thimayya with Bharat Ratna for their outstanding contribution to the nation would be a befitting tribute to the officers, Veena Achaiah said in the memorandum.

President's message in visitors' book at Thimayya Museum

"General Thimayya Museum preserves special aspects of the extraordinary character and contribution of one of the finest soldiers in the history of our army. The memorabilia at 'Sunny Side', once the residence of General Thimayya, highlights the sterling features of our brave forces. WORD OF THE DAY

Sarcophagus

Pronunciation: sahr-KAH-fuh-gus.
Meaning: A stone coffin; broadly : coffin.
Origin: Body-eating coffins might sound like something out of a horror film, but flesh-eating stone? The latter plays a role in the etymology of sarcophagus; it is the literal translation of líthos sarkóphagos, the Greek phrase that underlies the English term. The phrase travelled through Latin between Greek and English, taking on the form lapis sarcophagus before being shortened to sarcophagus. It's not clear whether the ancient Romans believed that a certain type of limestone from the region around Troy would dissolve flesh (and thus was desirable for making coffins). That assertion came from Roman scholar Pliny the Elder, but he also reported such phenomena as dog-headed people and elephants who wrote Greek. Regardless, there is no doubt that the ancient Greek word for the limestone combined sárx, meaning "flesh," with a derivative of phagein, a verb meaning "to eat."
Example: After archaeologists unearthed the sarcophagus, they opened it up to discover, along with the king's body, almost a hundred gold coins.

THE ODD WORD

Saiga

Migratory Russian antelope.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

As safe as houses

Meaning: Completely safe and secure.
Origin: It is commonly accepted that the Victorian expression 'as safe as houses' means 'secure; with no risk of failure'. It shares that meaning with 'as safe as the Bank of England' - the origin of this latter phrase slightly pre-dating the 'houses' version, being known in print from at least 1818.
The first example of 'as safe as houses' in print is in the rather over the top melodrama Timour the Tartar, which was staged in London in various versions from around 1842 onwards. The 1850 version contains this strangled doggerel:
Come, sacrifice your son and do what's right.
No - I don't seem to see it in that light.
Well then, I'll give my word that Timour's life
Shall be safe as houses. For a wife
Whom Timour's sword made widow lone and sad,
I think my offer by no means bad.

No matter who you are or where you are, instinct tells you to go home.

ATKMB beat Odisha 4-1

Bambolim, Feb. 7- Goals from Manvir Singh and Roy Krishna secured a 4-1 victory for ATK Mohun Bagan (ATKMB) over Odisha FC in Match 84 of Hero Indian Super League (Hero ISL) 2020-21 at the GMC Stadium in Bambolim yesterday.

The Mariners scored thrice in the second half after Cole Alexander cancelled out Manvir's opener in the first half.

Playing on the right flank for the Mariners, Manvir was a constant threat for the Odisha defenders. The forward scored the opening goal with a beautifully placed finish, before powering a shot into the net in the second half to make it 2-1 in the Mariners' favour. He indeed had a scintillating game and showed why national coach Igor Stimac rates him so highly.
